HIT BY PACKERS

PROVISIONS ARE FORCED DOWN BY A COMBINED ONSLAUGHT.

With Wheat Weak and Corn Limping and Quietude in Oats, the Big Meat Men of Chicago Step in and Deal the Provision Market Some Heavy Blows Under Which it Goes Down—Live Stock is Dull.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Corn was heavy today on large receipts, and wheat meekly followed. They both ran down another 2 1/2 cts. Provisions were taken down by the virile blows of the heavy packers, pork closing at a decline of 2 1/2 cts, lard 20 cts and ribs 15 cts. The market followed its own bent and closed 1/2 cent higher than yesterday.

Wheat opened very weak, December, which closed yesterday at 50 1/2 cts, and that was the bottom of a 1/2 cent decline, sold a moment after the start this morning at 50 cts.

The corn market was suffering from what the speculators chose to regard as very heavy receipts of that article, and the northwest reported a considerable increase in the number of bushels of corn.

These were the influences which inaugurated the weakness in wheat here. The cables returned reflections of the weakness which prevailed here yesterday. Business was of moderate activity. A good deal of scalping long lines came out at the opening, and the quiet support after that.

Jeff Elliott of this city, who formerly represented the Wichita Produce company, is now with the Topeka Vinegar company, and is placing their goods in this locality. Jeff is a member of council No. 30, and will be on hand to play ball on the Gordon O'Leary, Harry Stanley, Mort Hays, James Hunter, George Little, Clayton Ross, Ted Jocelyn and Edgar Kralovich.

Joe Conway was up from Oklahoma and spent last Sunday in the city. Joe is a bird, and when you speak about him, you are talking about a tender spot in his heart. He can talk hard work to a queen's taste, and well, don't mention that he never will quit talking about them.

Paul Johnson, with the Evans Gallagher Drug Co., of Kansas City, reports a fine trade in the Cherokee nation and the eastern part of the Topeka Vinegar company is familiar to all of the drug trade in this city, and he is a general favorite with them as well as with the rest of the city.

Mr. G. W. Cooper, who represents the celebrated Old Homestead and Jolly Tar tobacco, made by F. W. Cooper, of Louisville, Ky., is doing the advertising for this week to a finish, and when you see him, you are sure to see the evidence of his handiwork. "Moxie" is on to his job all right, and there is no flimsy in his goods, either.

AFRAID OF SUGAR

BEARS ON WALL STREET DO NOT GO SHORT OVER SUNDAY

They Fear That the Stock of the Trust Might be Manipulated and They Would be Squeezed to Death—Chicago Gas comes in for a Big Share of the Trading and Falls Off—Stocks and Bond Quotations.

New York, Sept. 15.—During the two hours of business on the stock exchange today some 80,000 shares changed hands. At the opening, trade was almost entirely in Chicago Gas, the first sale of which was at 60 1/2 cts, a decline of 1 1/2 cts from yesterday's closing price. The pressure to sell was heavy and a further reaction to 60 1/2 cts was effected in the early dealing. The depression in the stock was ascribed to the reports current yesterday of a prospective war of rates and growing strength of the opposition company, but there is a strong suspicion that the decline was manipulated in the interest of insiders who desired to acquire the stock at figures below the prevailing quotations of the recent advance. This view of the situation was strengthened by the good buying at the decline on which the early losses were recovered and a gain of 1 1/2 cts effected on the day. The stock closed at 60 1/2 cts, a decline of 1 1/2 cts from yesterday's closing price.

CAUTIONSNESS OF ELEPHANTS

One elephant, which the officer commanding six-eleventh battery of the Royal artillery lent to assist in extricating some camels which were being engulfed in the quicksands, showed an amount of sagacity which was positively marvelous. It was with the utmost diffidence, says a foreign exchange, that we could get him to go near enough to attach a drag rope to one camel I wanted to rescue. In spite of our being about fifty yards from the bank of the river, he evinced the greatest anxiety, while his movements were made with extreme caution.

Despite caution, persuasive remonstrance, and, at last, a shower of heavy blows dealt upon his head by the exasperated mahout, this elephant stubbornly refused to go where he was wanted, but, with his trunk shoved out in front of him, kept feeling his way with his ponderous feet, placing them before him slowly, deliberately and methodically, treading all the while with the velvet softness of a cat, and taking only one step at a time.

When the animal had nearly completed a circuit of the ground with the same caution and deliberation, he advanced to within ten yards of the poor camel, but not another inch would he move, though several men were walking between him and the camel without any signs of the ground giving way.

THE CAMEL MARKET.

One of the queer scenes witnessed in Turkey.

I had occasion to visit Tarsus some years ago, said a New Haven man recently, and while there nothing interested me more than watching the native trade in camels. The camel market is a large square in the center of the town. Here the animals are arranged in long rows, their front feet raised on a low elevation constructed for the purpose, the object being to show off the animal's height to the creatures. The uproar and confusion of this market is tremendous, with the incessant howling of the buyers and sellers as they dispute their chattering after they have agreed and the horrible shrieking of the animals at having their noses pulled for the purpose of making them show their agility in kneeling and rising. In order to test the strength of the camel and see how it is capable of bearing the load it is made to kneel and then to rise once again to rise under each additional unit it can rise no longer. Another expedient used to test the strength of the animal is this: While the animal is kneeling a man gets upon his hind legs and holds on by the long hair of its hump. If a camel can rise then it is considered an animal of superior strength.

The berries growing on the highest limits of the coffee trees in Brazil are often shriveled in the arid climate of the true Mocha, and these are carefully washed, shipped to some port in the West India coast and sent thence to the western world as the true Mocha.
